5 - UNIC is found on Google.

The virtual gives way to reality, as Google, the first choice search engine among internet surfers, is also an industrial giant with 44,000 employees and total revenues topping $50 billion. To retain these top talented programmers, called "Googlers", their employer offers them executive style comforts, food and beverages of the highest quality within office facilities that resemble university campuses, strewn across several U.S. states and in several foreign countries. Unic's role in this is to fully supply and support the equipment for their espresso program. Google is one of our major customers for over ten years and operates over 230 Unic espresso machines.
